As you will hear at the November 12th membership meeting, in 2014 our neighborhood association is going to try out a new format for our bi-monthly newsletter. We are going to streamline our issues into a 4-page "quick read" format and we're going to print enough so that every household in the neighborhood will have a copy of every issue. Instead of mailing the newsletters, we're going to deliver them by hand, through our block captain network and RPIA board members and officers, in much the same way that all the other neighborhood associations in the Grandmont Rosedale community do. This change will reduce our costs and at the same time increase our outreach to every household within our boundaries!

To compensate for having fewer pages in the newsletter, we will lean heavily on our website: www.rosedalepark.org and the Rosedale Park eBlast, our free weekly electronic newsletter. To receive the eBlast, send an email to rpiablast@gmail.com

Farmers' Almanac Forecasting Lots of Snow This Winter!

Greetings to all! I hope you are all well and enjoying the beauty of these last fall days in our beautiful neighborhood, Rosedale Park.

NEIGHBORS HELPING NEIGHBORS

Take a look at the notice in the middle of this column. It arrived as an email in my inbox last month, with a request to run it in the ROSEDALE PARK NEWS.

I readily agreed. It's an excellent example of how neighbors can reach out and connect with each other, stretching our dollars and strengthening the bonds that connect us. This neighbor needs a ride. Someone out there may already be driving that direction every day at that time - presto! Instant carpool. Or someone may have a vehicle and be willing to do the driving because they could use a little extra cash. Either way, we can help each other.

WANTED: OCCASIONAL DRIVER

Rosedale Park resident who is a tennis pro at the Dearborn Racquet Club needs reliable transportation from Rosedale Park to the club location at Gully Road/ Michigan Avenue in Dearborn.

Days and times vary—could be Monday through Saturday, times are usually between 3 – 8 PM. Fees are negotiable. Contact Chip at 313-523-1393. Serious inquires only—thanks!

I hope this notice in the ROSEDALE PARK NEWS will do the job. (I'm also really proud that one of our neighbors is a tennis pro – way cool!). If you have a need that you think your neighbors might be able to help with, or if you have some resources you think your neighbors could use, send me an email. I'll do my best to publicize and get the word out. We can help each other. I'm sure of it.

Illegal Scrapping Main Topic of September General Meeting

A startling fact: Michigan ranks second in the nation for scrap metal theft.

Currently, there are three bills weaving their way through the state legislature that will put some teeth in the enforcement tools to stop scrap metal theft.

Rep. David Nathan, our representative, explained at the RPIA general meeting that if these anti-scrapping bills are passed, it would then be a felony for scrap metal dealers to purchase new metal used in manufacturing or construction, equipment or tools used by contractors, or materials clearly marked as property belonging to a person other than the seller.

"It's time to get tough with illegal scrapping that is destroying our neighborhoods," said Nathan.

Rosedale Park residents listen to one of the speakers.

In a cover letter distributed to Detroiters describing the three bills, Rep. Rashida Tlaib explained: These bills tighten regulations by including all types of scrap metals and not just nonferrous; getting rid of the instant cash attraction by delaying payment for catalytic converters, air conditioners and copper wire; requiring a photo of the metals being purchased; training of all scrap yard employees and identifying the employee that weighs and inspects the material on the scale.

"As a recent victim of scrap metal theft myself, I am pleased to see that two of the bills have moved from committee with strong bipartisan support," said Tlaib in her letter. "Scrap metal theft destroys our communities when illegal scrappers steal playground equipment from parks and schools, and abandoned homes are a greater danger when they've been stripped of metal."

For more information on House Bills 4593, 4594 and 4595, contact Rep. Nathan's office: (517) 373-3815 or send an email to davidnathan@house.mi.gov.

Also, an analysis is available at <http://www.legislature.mi.gov> (You will need to enter the Bill number, 4593-4595).

COUNCILMAN JAMES TATE TALKS ABOUT THE NEW COUNCIL DISTRICT

Councilman James Tate, a North Rosedale resident, discussed the new council District 1 that covers Rosedale Park. He explained that a group of community leaders in District 1 have been meeting since January to help set an agenda for our area. Check out the Facebook page "District One Detroit."

Tate also answered questions from residents on a variety of subjects.

Radio Patrol Goals Set for Coming Months

Close to 30 people crowded into the Maryann Mahaffey Community Room at the GRDC office for the quarterly meeting of the Rosedale Park Radio Patrol (RPRP).

President Kathy Roland thanked all those who patrol at least once a month. She set forth some goals to shoot for. With 60 volunteers signed up as RPRP members, 30 days/times per month should be covered. But, according to Roland, only 15 patrols went out in August.

"So let's double the number of patrols next month to 30," said Roland.

There are still a few patrollers who need to put in training time. Roland suggested that veterans call her before their next scheduled day and offer to take new members who need training.

"It's important we reach out to patrollers who have not gone out in a while, and encourage them to take a turn," she said.

New revised radio patrol packets were distributed to all those present. Kathy reviewed the packets with the membership. If you were not present for this meeting and want a packet, please contact Dorothy Roman, secretary, (313) 531-6641.

Roland also stressed that the B&E Task Force (Sgt. Glaza and Officer Fulgenzi) is still in operation. If a patroller sees something suspicious, report it by sending an email to beinfo@yahoo.com. The officers will respond.

The next meeting is Tuesday, December 17 at 6:30 PM at the GRDC offices. It's the annual Christmas celebration and potluck.

Radio patrol meetings aren't all business, there's a good amount of humor, too.

An overflow crowd participates at the Radio Patrol meeting at the GRDC office.

Concerted Effort by Neighbors Cleans Up Blighted Yard

With sleeves rolled up and determination in their eyes, ten Rosedale Park neighbors came together on September 14 to spruce up the abandoned eyesore at 15100 Penrod.

The front yard looked like a wheat field. All around the house, weed trees had taken root and taken over. And the back yard was, well, a complete disaster, with weeds five feet high and downed dead trees lying everywhere.

While the back yard didn't get a complete clean-up, in just one hour this determined crew managed to transform the front yard and the side yard into something recognizable as a Rosedale Park home. The brush and trees were cut up carted off to the city yard.

"It's truly amazing what a group of people can do in just an hour," said neighbor Dale Reid.

This effort by neighbors keeps our community safe and clean - yeah!

Community Leaders Blaze Path for New City Council District 1

Last January, Detroit City Councilman James Tate, a North Rosedale Park resident, invited community leaders from a number of block clubs and neighborhood organizations to a planning meeting to develop strategies for the new council district.

What resources do we have in District 1? Are there problems in District 1 that are unique to this area? What is our long-term vision? These and other questions were put forward by the initial group of about 50 residents that meets once a month.

The District 1 Community Leadership Committee has four working committees: Abandoned Property/Blight; Public Safety; Block Club; and Social Media/Internet Outreach.

We've also developed a mission statement: District One is a coalition of community organizations committed and dedicated to serve community interest share information and resources to support residents, businesses and faith-based organizations via a "central hub".

What's your vision? Come join us at our November meeting. To find out when and where, contact Reginald Alexander in Councilman Tate's office, 313-224-1786 or send an email, alexanderr@detroitmi.gov.

The Abandoned Property/Blight Committee focuses on strategies for a district-wide housing survey.

Tomatoes: Fruit or Vegetable? Who Cares!

Another bountiful growing season is coming to a close at the Rosedale Grandmont Community Garden at Bushnell Church. Throughout the season, around 30 volunteers planted, watered, weeded, staked and harvested vegetables and fruit.

It's time to harvest and distribute some vegetables.

Hundreds of pounds of produce were harvested from the 18 raised beds in the garden, located in a plot of land just east of the north parking lot of the Bushnell Church.

Volunteers split up the food, which included raspberries, strawberries, peppers, kale, tomatoes, carrots, beets, potatoes, lettuce, broccoli, Swiss chard, onions, garlic, cucumbers, green beans, parsley and a few flowers.

Future gardeners want to help, too.

Community gardeners show off some of the bounty.

New Outdoor Green Space at Redford Library

By Dr. Conja Wright, Librarian, Redford Branch Library

There is a transformation taking place at our neighborhood Redford Branch Library. The library is developing a green space for the enjoyment of patrons and the residents of the northwest Detroit community.

This transformation is fueled by the collaborative efforts of community residents with the cooperation of the Friends of the Detroit Public Library, Ms. Patrice Merritt, Director.

As a Redford Branch librarian and storyteller, I presented a proposal, written in concert with Ms. Merritt, at July's GRDC Detroit SOUP event to create a meditation and reading garden in an unused area adjacent to the library. To our delight, the proposal received the majority of votes and was awarded in excess of $1,000, an initial seed fund to begin the project.

Vera Smith, Kadiri Sennefer and Conja Wright take a break from cleaning brush at the Redford Branch library.

Volunteers with loppers begin to trim bushes.

The project will provide community residents and library patrons with a place of solace, contemplation and refuge within the library campus.

Preliminary bids were received from area landscape professionals to remove unwanted trees, shrubs and accumulated litter from the half-acre site. CSL Tree Removal was awarded a contract to begin the task.

On Saturday, September 28, the first of over fifty unwanted trees were felled. A combined workforce, led by CSL, consisted of a contingency of volunteers from many organizations. Thanks to GRDC's Chelsea Neblett for supplying a host of honor students from Wayne State University; Kadiri Sennefer of D-Town Farms; Jarrette Booker of Tech Swaggers; Vera Smith of University Prep High School; Hope on Heyden Block Club; Green Thumbs-Up Garden Group; and all the neighborhood residents who cut, raked, swept and bagged refuse.

So, share the vision, catch the dream and become a part of the transformation. Let's grab hold of our city, our library and make a difference!
