The Rosedale Tattler is a publication of the North Rosedale Park Civic Association. Letter from President Hubert Sawyers III

"How bizarre, how bizarre"

The New Zealand musical group, OMC, had a hit in the 90s with this very refrain. This is how I think about our recent summer.

From the abnormal weather to the varied news stories concerning our area, this summer has been one for the books. I hope our local historians have been taking good notes. "The Summer of 2014" will be one I feel people will be discussing in years to come.

As summer comes to a close, let's look to welcome fall with vigor. As I noted last month, the annual Steak Roast is on Friday, September 12th. It is the perfect time to reconnect with neighbors and share stories of the summer. Make sure you contact Marcia Closson at (313) 835-1103 for tickets.

There will be a free jazz concert after dinner. It is set to be held outdoors. If it rains, there will be limited seating indoors.

Also we are running a 50/50 raffle and the winning ticket will be pulled after the jazz concert. Be sure to contact myself or any board member for tickets.

I want to take time to thank everyone who sent me well wishes from my last letter. It meant so much to me. Please know you all are in my thoughts as well.

Oh, if you are a family who participates in our soccer league, you will note a new concession stand. You will be able to purchase various refreshments and snacks during most games. Proceeds go to support North Rosedale Park Civic Association.

This summer has exhausted me, so this letter is shorter than usual. That does not mean there is not a lot happening. It is the same as always, but please take advantage of all the information provided in the proceeding pages. Special thanks to the Tattler team, led by Thomas Ridgway and Joe Kvorciak, for looking to optimize the pages every month.

Have you paid your 2014 Membership Dues?

If you haven't, we have a special deal for you!!! If you pay $100 before September 30, 2014, your membership dues will be satisfied for 2014 and 2015. Not only will you help your Civic Association towards its' membership goals, you will also receive a voucher for a $3.00 beverage at Always Brewing Detroit and a 10% discount coupon from Hollywood Hosiery good for all purchases through 2015.

There are 1,700 homes in North Rosedale Park and less than 500 families have paid their Civic Association dues. These dues are crucial for keeping our community house & our park grounds maintained. Please do your part and send your membership payment today!

See page 12 for an application & reference this article with your payment.

Vengeance is a true story that reads like a novel. It is the account of five ordinary Israelis, selected to vanish into "the cold" of espionage secrecy -- their mission to hunt down and kill the PLO terrorists responsible for the massacre of eleven Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics in 1972.

Behind the Footlights

Alice Leaves Wonderland for North Rosedale Park

It is widely believed that it isn't children who have kept the Alice stories alive, but rather adults who wish to explore the uniquely creative thoughts offered by Lewis B. Carroll. Possibly the notion of moving backwards in space and time, or the idea that words and names are independent of their meanings, and even the argument over whether we actually exist in reality or only in someone else's dreams, may be over the heads of most third grade children. But perhaps not. The clarity that is seen in the seven-and-a-half-year-old Alice is often witnessed in the very young. They have the ability to see that although rules are rules, they aren't always logical. Youth often are prescient in seeing that what we are is not necessarily who we are.

The play raises provocative questions. In the Looking-Glass garden, Alice is told to "walk the other way" in order to reach the Red Queen. Have you ever gotten somewhere by trying to avoid it? Have you ever found something after you cease looking for it? Have you ever been delayed in reaching a goal because you were rushing to get there?

Humpty Dumpty believes that language is a tool and that words can be separated from their meanings. Do you ever use a word to mean something it doesn't actually mean just because you like the sound of it? Did you ever discover that you had been using a word "incorrectly", with the wrong meaning? Did you change how you used it?

Did you try to change what it meant to suit yourself?

Tweedledee tells Alice that she exists only as a part of the Red King's dream? Do you ever recall your dreams as though they had really happened? Might there be another reality as reflected in our dreams? Have you ever wondered who is dreaming who? The thoughts above have been wildly plagiarized from notes by Jillian Kelley, director of the current production in Stratford, Ontario.

The Park Players' fall production of ALICE THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS is actually a combination of Alice in Wonderland and Alice Through the Looking Glass cobbled together by director, Sarah Hedeon and assistant director, Roger Loeb. We think you are going to love this unique presentation.

Auditions are WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3 at 7:00PM and SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 7 at 1:00 PM in the North Rosedale Park Community House. We encourage the young and the young at heart to come be part of this great adventure.

The Value of Home

By Joe Kvorciak

From the ages of 17 – 27 I never lived anywhere for more than 12 months and often not for more than 9 months. From Eastpointe to Sterling Heights to Midtown (4 different apartments in about as many years) to Woodbridge to Westland to Harper Woods to Chicago to Southfield. Although there were many excellent qualities to these places, but I never felt at ease in any of these places. I felt disconnected and that something wasn't right. Until I found North Rosedale Park.

When my wife (Keara) and I were looking for a neighborhood, we had three primary objectives in our home; it had to be in the city proper, it had to be an older home (preferably pre-World War II), and I wanted to find a community I could be involved in. Besides the recommendation of a long time resident that was a co-worker of mine at the time, this "eastsider" had no experience with this part of the city. The thing that sold us was the feeling we got every time we drove through the neighborhood felt right. What I mean by that is each time we looked at a house, a nearby neighbor would at least poke their head out of their door to say hi, we would have to slow down our car for playing children, or we would drive by the Community House and playground (which was always busy) and you could see this was a honest to goodness community. North Rosedale Park had everything we were looking for.

I'll admit, I had a bit of anxiety moving somewhere in. Our first night sleeping in the house I moved at every creak and moan our older home came with. I had my doubts. Then the next morning came. As Keara and I continued to unpack our things, there was a knock on the door. We hadn't given a soul our address. I hesitantly opened my door to be greeted by two of my neighbors with snacks and flowers picked from their garden. This was the moment I knew I was definitely home.

After this experience I started to learn a lot more about the neighborhood and what most impressed me and honestly made me feel good was the sense of community and the level of volunteer organization, and in particular the Block Clubs and the North Rosedale Park Civic Association. Without these groups I don't think a culture would exist where the neighbors would have felt the need to poke their heads out. Without the work of our neighborhood safety, vacant property, code enforcement committees the kids may not have felt as safe and connected to play in our streets. And all the programming and events (steak roast, June day, Zumba, the walkers...) in and around the Community House make it, truly, the Community's House!

Despite the extreme hardship we as Detroiters have faced, we have risen above the challenge to maintain our neighborhood. To stay who we are. I can't help but think that without the civic association and its numerous volunteers doing things that they don't HAVE to do, this is why we get to live the way we want to. I'm so incredibly proud to have bought into this, ask anyone who ever comes within ten feet of me.

This summer I also had the experience of having all these feelings confirmed by a professional. I took a class called Detroit: Metropolis in Transition this summer at Wayne State University. Dr. June Manning Thomas who was one of our many guest speakers said something similar to "the thing that is different in Grandmont Rosedale compared to other neighborhoods, is that even though there are vacant properties just like any other neighborhood, when you ask a neighbor about the property, he will not only tell you who used to live there and what's happened to the house since it became vacant , but also, he will tell you the entire history of the house." She was simply amazed at our ability to communicate and our more importantly our spirit to communicate. Our programming, our June Day, our vacant house committee, our Civic Associations are what keeps us together. Thank you Dr. Manning! I left class feeling like the luckiest guy on the planet who lives in the greatest place on the planet.

When you sign up for your membership this fall, your $75 isn't just a contribution to events like the Easter Egg Hunt or to keep the grass cut around the community house inside- or the lights - although it will do all of that!. Dues help support of all the things the North Rosedale Park Civic Association does that will keep our neighborhood desirable, safer, and most importantly it's what makes us a community and not just a clump of parcels with structures on them where people sleep after work. It makes our home. I think an extra $75 per year ($6.25 per month or 20.547945 cents a day, if you want to get technical) is well worth it. And while you are at it- volunteer- even a little- it is the glue that keeps us together!!

The text "WE are A COMMUNITY" is rendered in a 3D, blocky font. "WE" and "COMMUNITY" are in all caps, while "are A" is in lowercase. The letters have a dark, textured appearance with some highlights and shadows, giving them a three-dimensional look. The background is a light, slightly textured gray.

Rosedale Soccer in its 36th Season

By Kathy Garrett

Co-Commissioner of the Rosedale Soccer League Deborah Lowery sat at a table full of cleats for sale at $5.00 a pair and answered parents' questions about uniforms, game times, and registration. Deborah has been co-commissioning the league with Rosedale Park resident Stacie Harris since 2008, and before that was the sole commissioner for eight years. As Deborah does not have any kids playing soccer this year, she truly runs the league "For the love of the game and for the kids."

36 years ago, in 1978, North Rosedale Park residents Betty and Jim Johnson had the idea to start a soccer league not just for kids who lived in North Rosedale Park, but for anyone who wanted to play. They figured they would get about 100 kids that first year. 300 signed up. This simple desire to develop a love of soccer among area youth is accompanied by, what Deborah calls, her first priority: "To develop good sportsmanship. The kids have to learn how to win and how to lose."

Coaches play a big part in encouraging this atmosphere of fun and respect. This year there are 22 teams with 22 coaches and several assistant coaches showing the kids how to dribble, shoot, save, and score. There are also several age group coordinators who organize the players onto the teams, and make sure they have uniforms. There are people who prepare the fields each season, marking the field and goal lines for the three fields at the North Rosedale Park Community House where all the games are played. All of these people who make Rosedale Soccer happen are volunteers. Some of them don't even have kids who are playing anymore. These adults and parents just really love the league and watching the kids learn and grow.

In fact, some of the kids who once played in the league are now coaches! There is one role on the fields that is a paid position, and that's the referee. Anyone can begin refereeing, with the free referee training provided by the league, at age 13. For a lot of these referees, this is their first job. Of course, a lot of the refs are former players and so understand the importance of good sportsmanship because they learned it playing in the Rosedale Soccer league.

This season Rosedale Soccer has about 250 kids. When Deborah first started as commissioner, the numbers were closer to 600. Deborah attributes much of this decrease in enrollment to the difficult economy. The fee to play is $75, but assistance is available. The used cleats that Deborah sells at the beginning of the season, the fee that families pay to play soccer, and even the photographer who takes pictures of the teams all contribute toward this scholarship program. Usually 10-15 scholarships or partial scholarships are offered each year. "We really just want the kids to be able to play if they want to play," says Deborah. It truly is, as Deborah says, "a family-like league." And that's why it's yet another great thing about living in Grandmont Rosedale.

Rosedale Soccer has teams for players ages 4-17. The season is eight games long, this year running from Aug. 9 – Oct. 4 (there are no games on Sat. Aug. 30 because of Labor Day). All the games are played on the fields at the North Rosedale Park Community House, 18445 Scarsdale. Practices usually take place at the Community House as well, but the days and times vary per team (and the coaches' availability). The website for the league is rosdalesoccerleague.org, and their phone is 1-888-505-8959. Sign-up is the first two Saturdays in June, but as it's a family league - you or someone you know might still be able to get on a team.

Even if you don't know someone on the team, stop the Park on a Saturday morning in September and watch a game for a minute or two. Take a second to be proud and grateful that you live in a community that so nourishes its children that it devotes Saturdays to teaching them how to win, lose, and just have fun.

providing opportunities to see and be seen, and/or defining ownership of space to encourage maintenance. As always, all Neighborhood Safety Meetings are free and

Donates $10,000

In June, Meijer broke ground for its second Detroit store on the site of the former Redford High School at Grand River and McNichols. During the event, Meijer officials stressed their commitment to Detroit and to supporting local organizations.

Last month, Meijer made good on its promise by donating $10,000 to the Legacy Project of North Rosedale Park. The donation brings the total raised to more than $680,000. Meijer joins more than 175 individuals, organizations and foundations who have made financial commitments to the effort.

If construction goes as planned, the Community House addition and the new Meijer store will be completed around the same time.
